Edward, Greater Sudbury fire officials have not ruled out the possibility of a second major blaze. As the death toll from the blaze near Portapique rises to 15, however, there is increasing optimism that firefighters have contained the fire and that there are no more threats to the public. As of 9 p.m. Thursday, fire personnel were still working with a backhoe on the site, where the fire, which is believed to have started in the north-end zone of the Canadian Tire, spread last week. Ward 3 Greater Sudbury Coun. Jenny Gerbasi said firefighters were on the scene at 12:30 p.m. Thursday, but there were no indications that further fires or hot spots were contained. "If we get out there and they can't say the fire's extinguished, then there's still the chance of a second fire," said Gerbasi, adding that the advice from fire officials was to stay away from the area. While members of the public were allowed back into the mall since Wednesday afternoon, they were required to keep at least 100 metres away from the scene of the fire. The Greater Sudbury Fire Department's crews on site were made up of 67 personnel. The department had been asked to provide 100 firefighters, but also provided relief staff from areas without major fires. The staff will remain on the scene until the fire is completely extinguished. Inspections by the fire department were required before permits were issued for the sites being restored. They were required to have their building plans, safety plans and certificates of insurance for the structures before moving forward. City officials have said progress in the restoration of the mall is on track to be completed by the end of September. As of Thursday afternoon, both the mall and Canadian Tire locations were open for business. The Canadian Tire appeared to be the only portion
